The Dedicated Trucking You've Been Searching For

"One of the great benefits of our relationship with J.B. Hunt is our ability to professionalize our transportation."

For over 160 years, Bostwick-Braun has assisted stores with their wholesale hardware and industrial supply needs. But when truck driver and equipment shortages began negatively affecting their ability to make timely deliveries to customers, they knew it was time to make a change.

"Trucking for us was not our core competency," says Mike Gramke, the president of Bostwick-Braun's hardware division. "Over the years, we recognized the fact that we were not maximizing our routes, we were not being efficient with our miles."

Bostwick-Braun made the decision to convert their private fleet and outsource their transportation, and they selected J.B. Hunt Dedicated Contract Services® teams to tackle the job.

With our technology and our robust driver pool, we're working to make Bostwick-Braun more efficient.

"One of the great benefits of our relationship with J.B. Hunt is our ability to professionalize our transportation," said Bostwick-Braun CEO Mark Christie. "This includes working with their engineering services, implementing their technology and being able to run our transportation at a much better level than we ever could have hoped for."

We can do the same for you – our Dedicated Contract Services teams are ready to build a dedicated transportation program that works for your business!
